

A photograph of a dark, heavily graffitied door. The door has a central rectangular panel with a light-colored border. Inside this panel, there is a gothic-style archway. Above the arch, the word 'DONKEND' is written in a stylized, blocky font. Below the arch, there are more graffiti tags, including 'HOP' and 'GOD'. To the left of the central panel, the word 'LONK' is written vertically in a large, stylized font. To the right, the word 'COS' is written vertically. The door is covered in various other graffiti tags and markings, including 'De 150' and '77' at the top. A person's arm in a blue sleeve is visible on the right side of the door.
